

INTRO

All the MEDIA Desks and Antennas, with the contribution of Cartoon Movie, gathered their know how in order to create a European directory of animation studios and video games developers. The aim is to make easier the communication between European professionals working in this sector.

All the studios have not been listed yet. We chose to focus on animation studios that can develop by themselves a fully project (from concept to editing) and for the video games developers, we rushed through those that work on PC and consoles video games.

This guide is a working process and will be regularly updated.

We hope this directory will help you to find partners and will encourage European cooperation.
